

Kaufmann & Co.

Challenge Millinery Clean-Up SALE.

Three New, Startling Values Added To-Day:

UNTRIMMED LEGHORN HATS AND REAL MILAN SHAPES for smart midsummer wear; large, medium and small; in all colors and natural; some only need a bright bit of ribbon or fancy stick-up for trimming. Values up to $8.50. $2.98

BEAUTIFUL TRIMMED HATS—About 100 in all—the balance of the spring stock you've seen here as high as $12.50—finest hennas, chips, fancy braids, etc.; made with flowers, ribbons, fancy ostrich and every popular trimming; suitable for street, tailored or dress wear. Values up to $12.50. $4.98

20-INCH FRENCH OSTRICH PLUMES—A remarkable lot at a remarkable price for this sale; choice of two-tone effects as well as all the newest summer colors; plain stock with broad, beautifully curled heads. Values up to $6.00. $3.48

Social and Personal

Quantities of fragrant flowers decorated the drawing-rooms of the home of Mrs. George Brockenbrough McAdams, at 914 West Franklin Street, yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock, when she entertained at a pretty tea in honor of Mrs. John Lottier Cabell, of Savannah, Ga., a recent bride. The walls were curtained in smilax and bright-colored flowers, and tall jars of lovely flowers were placed at intervals about the rooms. In the hall Mrs. Robert G. Cabell and Mrs. Thomas Branch McAdams presided at the punch bowl, which was wreathed with a garland of pink and white flowers, and the dining-room was also decorated in pink and white blossoms. The tea table was set with a big basket of spring flowers caught with a tulle bow of pink and white, and the lighted candles were shaded in rose color. The mantel in the drawing-room, where the receiving party stood, was banked with snapdragons, and roses and palms were used throughout the house.

Mrs. McAdams received with the guest of honor, Mrs. Cabell's mother, Mrs. Anne Branch Cabell, and others assisting in doing the honors of the evening were Mrs. Beverly B. Cunningham, Mrs. E. H. Bowie, Mrs. Melville C. Branch, Mrs. Thomas Branch McAdams and Miss Mirlam Grundy. About seventy-five guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Cabell have been spending the honeymoon at the Virginia Hot Springs, where they have been much entertained, and a great deal of handsome entertaining is to be done in their honor during their stay in Richmond. The wedding, which took place at a fashionable church in Savannah last month, was one of the most notable events of the spring, and a brilliant gathering filled the church to witness the nuptials.

Leaving Town. Mrs. Allen Burrus, of Fordwick, and Mrs. H. Jordan, of Craigsville, are leaving for their homes to-day, after having been the guests of Lieutenant-governor and Mrs. J. Taylor Ellsion on East Franklin Street. Mrs. Burrus and Mrs. Jordan came to Richmond last

Dunlop Flour

IT'S MADE IN RICHMOND

The Dunlop Mills, Richmond, Va.

J. B. Mosby & Co.

Big reductions in price on Linen-erie and Voile Dresses.

EAT IT THREE TIMES DAILY.

ATMOR BREAD

AT ALL GROCERIES.

REINACH, Inc.

107 E. BROAD STREET

MILLINERY—Women's and Misses' Outer Apparel.

Use Pratt's Astral Oil for Incubators.

N. Klein & Son, Inc.

3 East Broad.

Ladies' Tan Rubber Sole Oxfords, $2.25.

ALBERT STEIN KING OF SHOES, Corner 5th and Broad

Ladies' Russian Calf Rubber Sole Oxfords, $2.50 to $4.00. Men's Russian Calf Rubber Sole Oxfords, $3.50 to $5.00.

Hotheimer's

Northwest Corner Third and Broad.

Stieff

PIANOS

Best players—the finest made, at makers' prices.

DETROIT GAS RANGES, ALASKA REFRIGERATORS, OLD HICKORY FURNITURE, SOLD ONLY BY

JURGENS

912 Park Avenue, last week. The two papers read were "Little Journeys to the Homes of Some of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence," by Mrs. J. Taylor Ellsion, and "Sketches of American Pioneer Women," by Mrs. Marie Louise Harrison. A musical program was rendered by Miss Jane Cushman and local selections by Miss Sorg and Miss Thomas. Refreshments were served by the hostesses following the conclusion of the meeting.

Amateur Play. The Highland Park Dramatic Club will give a charming and sparkling little comedy entitled "Won by Wire-ness" in three acts at the Northside Hall this evening at half-past 8 o'clock for the Church of the Ascension. The public is invited.

In Roanoke. Mrs. W. A. Mehegan and Miss Margaret Mehegan, of this city, are the guests of Mrs. R. A. Buckner and Miss Dorothy Buckner at their home in Roanoke. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. J. H. Parrott, of Roanoke, will entertain a number of friends in Mrs. Mehegan's honor.

In and Out of Town. Miss Mary Johnson is the guest of Miss Ellen Ball at her home near Westhampton for some time.

Mrs. B. B. Valentine is the guest of Mrs. S. Browning at her home in Roanoke for several days.

Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague has been the guest of his family here for the past week-end.

Miss Elizabeth Greaves, of the University of Virginia, is visiting Miss Evelyn Byrd Warwick for some time.

Luther Weaver has returned to his home in Prince Edward County, after spending a short time here as the guest of friends.

Misses Ruth Wells and Nancy Walker were the guests of Miss Louise Pollard in Ashland last week.

William A. Price is stopping at the Guarant Hotel in this city for a short time.

Mrs. R. O. Christian, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. G. Pollard in Ashland, is now at Virginia Beach, where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. Rebecca Shackelford, who has been visiting in Ashland for some time past, is now the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. Walker, on Park Avenue.

Mrs. C. W. Tanner has returned to the city, after spending two weeks at the Randolph home at Keswick.

Miss Kathleen Bruce spent the week-end visiting relatives in Baltimore.

Mrs. H. A. Watkins, of New York, a woman prominent in literary circles of that city, is spending this week at the Jefferson Hotel.

Alexander Weddell, consul for the United States at Palermo, Sicily, is visiting relatives here.

HUSBAND KNEW BEST

Mrs. Bishop Reluctantly Consented to Advice of Husband, But is Right Glad She Did, Now

Waverly, Va.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Mattie L. Bishop says: "I suffered miserably from womanly trouble, and everything I ate would put me in such misery I would have to go to bed until it wore off. I could not even wash my dishes after a meal."

At last, my husband begged me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I had tried so many different kinds of medicine, I didn't want to take it, but agreed to try it for his sake.

Before I had finished one bottle I could eat all I wanted and do all of my work all right.

I gained in weight, and looked so much better that my own sister said she wouldn't have known me had she seen me away from home.

I shall always recommend Cardui, for I know it will do all you claim."

If you suffer from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, don't wait until the trouble becomes chronic. You owe it to yourself, your friends and your family to try to regain your normal health.

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic, as so many thousands of other women have done, with good results. Begin taking Cardui to-day.

N. B.—Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.—Advertisement.

Dreyfus

"Specialists in Apparel for Women."

Broad at Second.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE New Method Gas Ranges

— AT — PETTIT & CO.'S?

See Our 1913 Patterns of GO-CARTS and CARRIAGES.

Rothert & Co.

Fourth and Broad.

Long, White 16 and 12 Button Kid Gloves, $2.25

Gloves for Every Occasion

Washable Doekin Gloves, white only; per pair—12-button, $2.50; 16-button, $3.00.

Washable Chamois Gloves, natural color, per pair—12-button, $2.25; 16-button, $2.75.

Kayser's Chamoisette Gloves, white and natural color; per pair—16-button, 50c.

Kayser's Chamoisette Gloves, white only; per pair—16-button, $1.00.

"Kayser" and "Niagara Maid" All-Silk gloves, double finger tips; black, white and colors; per pair—16-button, $1.00.

Good Silk, with double tipped fingers; in black and white only, 75c.

Chamoisette Gloves, in natural and white; a good wearing glove, for 50c.

Fine Full Pique Gloves, in the wanted colors, for $1.00.

JOSEPH CAILLAUX AGAIN SEEKS POWER

Pushing Himself Into Limelight Despite Unsavory Circumstances of His Retirement.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY. THAT Joseph Caillaux should be once more pushing himself forward into the political limelight, with the purpose of overthrowing the existing administration in France, and of recovering the premiership, which he held until a little over a year ago, seems well-nigh incredible to those who recall the circumstances under which he was driven out of office. They are circumstances that excited almost universal disgust and indignation among his own countrymen, and amazement abroad. For it was shown by a senatorial commission of inquiry that he had used his position as premier to carry on secret negotiations of his own with Spain and Germany, without the knowledge of the Minister of Foreign Affairs or the remainder of the French Cabinet, and behind the backs of French ambassadors abroad, with selfish and private financial interest in view.

When the offers which he made to German statesmen, without the cognizance of his ministerial colleagues or of the President of the republic, were made known by the commission, officers of the French army and navy of France, but which were not accepted because it was felt in Germany that he would not have the power to carry them through, a demand was made in the national legislature at Paris for his resignation.

If the project was abandoned, it was because a plea was put forward to the effect that he had been more or less mentally unbalanced at the time. It was argued that no man in his senses could have acted as he had done with regard to Germany and Spain, and all sorts of incidents were related in the lobbies of the Senate, at the Luxembourg Palace, and of the Chamber of Deputies at the Palais Bourbon, in order to show that he was suffering from some ailment.

Some of the stories told indicated that there had been moments when he had no more control over himself than the most complete imbecile under restraint in an asylum, absolutely oblivious of all his surroundings and of the ordinary proprieties of life. Among those which bear repetition was his extraordinary conduct on one memorable occasion, when receiving at the Department of the Interior, at the Luxembourg Palace, one of the principal officials of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, he suddenly arose from his writing table, and leaping on to a sofa near him, commenced jumping from one to another of the velvet cushions which were ranged along the walls of the very large room constituting his office. While going through this extraordinary gymnastic exercise, he barked and whined like a small dog at play, his visitors regarding him open-mouthed, rightly convinced that for the moment he was entirely bereft of his reason.

Curiously enough, there is a precedent for behavior of this kind on the part of Caillaux. Thus, the published "Correspondence" of that Duchess of Orleans who was the contemporary of Cardinal Richelieu, relates that this all-powerful statesman, while at the head of the French government, had occasional fits of insanity, and describes how, on one particular occasion, he suddenly, in the midst of a Cabinet meeting, and while the members of the government were engaged in their work, left them standing and began cantering around the room, neighing and whinnying like a horse and kicking off his heels equine fashion at any one who got in his way or came near him. He lasted for half an hour, until he sank on to the floor utterly exhausted, whereupon his attendants, who seemed to know what to do under the circumstances, carried him off to bed, where he slept soundly until the following day, having no recollection whatsoever of the conduct of his fantastic conduct on the previous afternoon.

But then Joseph Caillaux is not Cardinal Richelieu, and things that might be tolerated on the part of the great statesman of the sixteenth century, another aspect when perpetrated by a twentieth century politician of the calibre of Joseph Caillaux.

On another occasion, the latter walked into the office of M. de Seives, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, at Quai d'Orsay, and seating himself opposite to him at the desk, coolly put his feet upon that article of furniture, under the nose of the astonished Foreign Minister. Such free and easy ways as these are not tolerated in France, and Caillaux's conduct in official and political life, and only those who know how extremely courteous, dignified and correct is old M. de Seives will be able to appreciate his feelings.

Since the fall of his administration, Caillaux has been devoting himself to finance, with profit to himself, though not to his associates. For at the recent general meeting of the Credit Foncier of Argentina, in Paris, there was such indignation among the shareholders over the amount of the profits which he had appropriated to himself as president of the concern that they wound up by mobbing him, and it was necessary for him to call for the assistance of the police in order to rescue him from personal injury.

The wholly unworthy trick by means of which Caillaux obtained the premiership from Monis, in whose Cabinet he held the portfolio of Minister of Finance, taking advantage of the fact that his chief was confined to his bed for two or three weeks by the injuries which he had received in the flying machine accident which caused the death of the Minister of War, is too well known to need repetition, but plainly shows that he is incapable of appreciating the meaning of loyalty to ministerial colleagues.

His matrimonial experiences have been, to say the least, odd. For, during one of his previous terms of office as Minister of Finance, he fell in love with the wife of one of the clerks of his department. That clerk was rapidly promoted. After a time the wife divorced the clerk and married M. Caillaux. Then he discovered that the ex-husband as correspondent. When made alive to the ridiculous nature of the trick, he endeavored to withdraw it, but his wife insisted on its being continued, won the case against him for misconduct on his part, and obtained very liberal alimony, on the strength of which she remarried her former husband. Since then he has married the divorced wife of Leon Claretie, the author, co-author of the director-general of the Comedie Francaise. How this marriage has turned out, I do not at the moment recollect.

Curiously enough, Caillaux and Premier Barthou, whom he is now endeavoring to overthrow and to supplant, were formerly intimate friends and traveling companions. It was while traveling with Barthou in Egypt that he fell into the bad graces of the latter, who, being particularly friendly to Germany, who found it necessary to call the attention of the proprietor of the hotel in Cairo in which she was staying to his rudeness.

The crown princess, while waiting for the birth of the crown prince from India, used to enjoy taking her meals in the public dining room with the members of her suite, and was never subjected to any annoyance in connection therewith until Caillaux appeared on the scene. Unfortunately, his table and that of his companion, the present Prime Minister Barthou, were placed in the vicinity of that of the crown princess and of her party, and he made himself so offensive by asking her to share her meals with them, that he was expelled from the dining room. He then requested that he would take his dinner elsewhere, in order to protect her Imperial highness from any further annoyance.

The proprietor, not only indorsed this request of her chamberlain, but emphasized it by a demand that Caillaux should leave the hotel without delay.

Caillaux blustered a good deal, talked of invoking the intervention of the French minister plenipotentiary in Egypt for the indignity offered to himself and to Barthou, as former cabinet ministers, and also expressed his wish to fight a duel with the crown princess's chamberlain, prudently adding, however, that he would await the latter's second, in lieu of sending any challenge himself. Naturally, the chamberlain did not see his way to gratify the vanity and error for notoriety of Caillaux by challenging him for any matter with which the name of the crown princess would be connected, and there was no bloodshed. The two ex-ministers, however, bowing to the inevitable, and being compelled to seek quarters elsewhere.

Naturally, the affair came, in due course, to the ears of the crown prince and to those of the Kaiser, and, according to the admissions of the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, the late Von Kiderlen-Waechter, the presence of a man so objectionable to Emperor William as Caillaux constituted a serious impediment to the presentation of the question between France and Germany on the subject of Morocco.

(Copyright, 1913, by the Brentwood Company.)

SCHOOL YEAR ENDS.

Diplomas Presented to New Graduates of Sullins.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., May 19.—Sullins College, here, for many years distinguished as a Methodist school for girls, having been founded by Dr. David Sullins in 1870, concluded another year to-day, with the annual class-day exercises. The annual literary address was delivered by Hubert Carlock, a lawyer of LaFollet, Tenn. Patrons and friends were present from many States, and attended the presentation of diplomas and other honors to the following list of graduates:

Bachelors of Art—Minnie Bryan, South Carolina; Annie Belle Dunlap, North Carolina; Dora E. Tennessee; Jamie Lee Cox, Annie G. Godsey, Okla. Neff, Katherine Shantz, Josephine Warren, Virginia; Annie Laurie Cullens, Sue Kolb, Ralls Lacey, Anna Sneed, Grace Sobel, Alabama; Willie Redding, Mabel Nixon, Mississippi.

Bachelors of Science—Grace Copeland, Rebecca Lowder, Maggie McCarty, Okla. Neff, Virginia; Lillian Florence Crowell, Nellie Platt, Lydia Rogers, Elizabeth Scott, Verne Stephens, Tennessee; Laura Lyman, Foy Reynolds, Alabama.

Art Graduates—Frances Baker, Alabama; Sarah Park House, Verne Stephenson, Tennessee.

Expression Graduates—Pearl Harmon, Cornelia Tatum, Virginia; Verne Stephens, Alabama; Elizabeth Scott, Tennessee; Jettie Johnson, West Virginia.

China Painting—Armour Neighbors, Tennessee.

Voice—Carrie Mae Miller, Virginia.

Wilson—Palmer. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., May 19.—George T. Wilson, of Loudoun County, and Miss Beattie Palmer, of Orange County, were married at the clerk's office at Orange, Rev. A. J. Harlow officiating.

Hogan—McIntire. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., May 19.—Marshall W. Hogan and Miss Orpha McIntire, both of Loudoun County, were married at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. J. R. Jacobs officiating.

FINDING OF WILL RECALLS TRAGEDY

Murdered Farmer Said to Have Left Fortune to Former Sweetheart.

ATTORNEY HAS PAPER

It Is Said to Have Been Stolen From Home Shortly Before His Death.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Harrisonburg, Va., May 19.—Tragedy, romance and mystery are peculiarly combined in the finding of a paper purporting to be the last will of George M. Nicholas, the wealthy eccentric East Rockingham farmer, who was poisoned at his home near Port Republic on last August 5. Nicholas, who was worth about $300,000, met his mysterious death, leaving it was believed, no will. Naturally his estate fell to his four brothers, but now the appearance of a will puts a different face on the entire affair.

A Harrisonburg lawyer has in his possession the alleged will, which leaves $125,000 in cash and the $3,000 farm on the Shenandoah River to a former sweetheart and benefactor in St. Louis. It is said that Nicholas, while in St. Louis several years ago, was injured in a street car accident, and then it was that the woman, whose name has not been made public, nursed him back to health and strength and incidentally won his heart and his thousands.

Another mysterious feature of the affair is that the alleged will is reported to have been stolen from the Nicholas home a short time before he was poisoned.

The authorities now hope that the appearance of the will may at last throw some light on the strange murder of Nicholas.

It will be recalled that last August Nicholas and several others at the breakfast table were made desperately ill from drinking coffee. In a few hours Nicholas died in great agony, the others recovering. Nicholas was a hermit and miser who lived alone in the great mansion with his old housekeeper, rarely ever seeing any outsider. At the time of the poisoning Nicholas's brother and some hands had gone to the place to harvest the crops of the old miser.

Nicholas's stomach and the coffee were sent to Chemist Taylor, of Richmond, who found arsenic in the stomach. At the time a broken package of arsenic was found in the Nicholas home. After a series of rumors and reports the case was forgotten and the police gave it up.

Two Elections in June.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., May 19.—Bristol will have two municipal elections in June, one in Tennessee, Bristol June 3, to elect a Mayor and commissioners, and the amended city charter providing for the commission form of government, and one in Virginia, Bristol, to elect members of the Council and to determine whether the compulsory educational system shall be adopted. In Tennessee Bristol, Mayor J. H. Faucett is being opposed by former Mayor J. A. Dickey. The candidates for the two places on the commission are S. G. Keller, J. W. Norvell, W. H. Lynn and A. F. Martin. The candidates thus far listed for Councilmen in Virginia Bristol are H. E. Jones, J. H. McCue, J. E. L. Smith and J. H. Spaulding.

Cards Are Issued.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., May 19.—Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Catherine Strickland Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Greene, to R. C. Jarvis, both of Matthews County, the ceremony to take place at Westville Baptist Church, in that county, May 23.

In Buying Silverware Always Insist on Knowing the Weight.

Stieff Silver

WEDDING GIFTS THAT BECOME HEIRLOOMS

When you give the bride a piece of Stieff silver you give a gift that will last forever and be just as beautiful and useful a century hence as it is to-day. Stieff Sterling Silverware, because of its known quality of material and workmanship and its great beauty of pattern, is the most acceptable of all wedding gifts.

It is not too early to select the gift for the June bride. Consult the Stieff catalog for suggestions.

To any one interested we will send several designs of pieces desired from the factory at Baltimore for selection. Illustrated catalog giving prices mailed upon request.

Salad or Berry Bowl

Although all Stieff ware is of the highest quality, the price is little, if any, higher than is asked for ordinary ware. The selling price in every instance is based on the weight of metal, plus the cost of manufacture and a fair margin of profit. All Stieff ware is sold direct to the public, in our own inexpensively but conveniently located salesrooms, at manufacturers' prices.

6 BREAKFAST OR DESSERT KNIVES—In the pleasing Stieff rose pattern; sterling silver; the half dozen $10.00

6 TEA SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $10.00

6 ICE CREAM SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $9.00

6 SHERBET SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $8.75

6 TEA SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $8.50

6 SHERBET SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $8.25

6 TEA SPOONS—Sterling silver; the half dozen $8.00

Other Designs, heavier in weight, at higher prices.

MAIL ORDER DEPT. Exceptional pains are taken to please our out-of-town patrons. Correspondence solicited. Illustrated Catalog Upon Request. Prompt deliveries by Parcel Post.

THE STIEFF CO. SILVERSMITHS, Baltimore, Md.

Engagement Rings

Exquisite settings in the Princess and the staple Solitaire. It is a pleasure to show our goods.

SCHWARTZBROS. Second and Broad Sts.

WILLIAMS COMING BACK TO ASSEMBLY

Floor Leader in House Discusses Politics in State and Ninth District.

Judge Martin Williams, of Giles County, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections in the House of Delegates and Democratic floor leader in that body, spent yesterday in Richmond. He has been renominated by the Democrats of Giles and Bland Counties for the seat he now occupies, and it seems that he is unlikely to have Republican opposition.

The party situation in the Ninth District, according to Judge Williams, is little likely to be affected by this year's elections. It is probable that the Democrats will retain the ground gained in the legislative election of 1911, except that there is room for doubt in the district composed of Wise and Dickenson Counties.

The contest for Judge of the Supreme Court to succeed Judge John A. Buchanan is likely to be interesting. A Southwest man will probably win, but there are four probable candidates from the Ninth District and only one outside thereof—Judge Waller R. Staples, of Giles County—and this makes the outcome uncertain.

Peyton F. St. Clair, of Giles, whose candidacy for collector of internal revenue for the Western District of Virginia was endorsed by the Ninth District Democratic Committee, has says Judge Williams, been approved by the committees in eleven of the thirteen counties. He is being strongly opposed by men who were President Wilson's leaders in Virginia, some of them having indorsed the candidacy of Senator John M. Hart, of Roanoke.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reconvened at 11 o'clock yesterday morning with Senior Circuit Judge Richard C. Taylor presiding.

No. 116—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, for a writ of habeas corpus, and a writ of mandamus to require the entry of a decree in accordance with the decree and mandate of the court in case No. 115—Howard A. Fisher, York County and Machine Company, J. K. Patty & Co. and Earle Gear and Machine Company, petitioners, vs. Judge of the District Court of